Approval of Minutes

1. Action: The minutes of the meeting of 3 May 1951 (IAC-M-29) were approved.

Intelligence for Civil Defense (IAC-D-20/1)

2. Since the last meeting the IAC agencies have all concurred in the proposed memorandum (IAC-D-20/1) which is now being dispatched to the Federal Civil Defense Administration.

Vulnerabilities of Communist China (SE-5)

- 3. Action: This paper was approved subject to certain revisions and the redrafting of paragraphs 13 and 14 by the IAC representatives.
- 4. Discussion: There was considerable discussion of paragraphs 13 and 14 with regard to the probable Soviet counteraction to various measures of U. S. assistance to the Chinese Nationalists. The consensus of the meeting was that the extent of Soviet support to the Chinese Communists would depend on the extent of U. S. support of the Nationalists. The Sino-Soviet Treaty would be frequently referred to and might be formally invoked, although the Soviets would always act with complete cynicism in this regard. The committee agreed that, although unable to predict with accuracy what would happen, there would be a serious possibility of the open commitment of Soviet forces at that stage when U.S. operational support, in the estimation of the Soviets, brought the stability of the Chinese Communist regime into jeopardy. It was felt, however, that even this open commitment would not necessarily mean global war since the Russians would not declare war themselves and would not wittingly start a global war unless they were reasonably sure of winning it. It was not considered necessary or appropriate to attempt to predict whether the U.S. would regard the open commitment of Soviet forces against U. S. forces as tantamount to a declaration of general war.

German Attitudes towards Remilitarization (NIE-24)

5. Action: This estimate was approved with the understanding that a note would appear after paragraphs 6 and 20, giving the substitute wording preferred by G-2. A note would also appear at the end of paragraph 9, giving the additional wording desired by G-2.

Probability of a Communist Attack on Japan during 1951 (IAC-D-21)
